Organisations, in pursuit of cost reductions, are looking to develop a leaner document and print infrastructure, whilst at the same time managing their carbon footprint. You will discover how these joint objectives can be achieved through the very latest advancements.

Safe deployment of digital copying, printing, scanning and faxing is vital. Increasingly, many businesses have valuable and sensitive information being stored electronically, yet they don’t always realise how vulnerable they are in these areas. In addition, many organisations and government departments will require clear evidence of data security measures, before doing business with you. Apogee can advise and offer bespoke solutions including data security kits that will allow you to achieve this efficiently and cost effectively through their partnership with leading players in this field.

We partner with finance providers, who understand this sector and who can offer strong and stable partnerships to allow innovative and effective strategies. We understand the challenges and the current difficulties in obtaining the necessary finance businesses need to enable them to achieve their growth plans.

Mobile integration, agility and flexibility are key words for the future. Cloud technology is rapidly gaining hold and it offers strategic advances to its adopters. Large corporates have decided to reduce the burden of IT infrastructure, through the adoption of the cloud. A significant proportion of companies already have a cloud strategy in place and more than 50% of large organisations are seriously looking into it.

The demands are inevitable with the significant increase in mobile use through tablets and mobiles for day to use with 82% of users seeking to print directly from their tablet and mobiles. At Action With Vision we have experts on hand who will clarify the nature of this technology, explain the trends and show you how cloud can work in relation to your business.

Innovation can offer smarter working practices, which can help your organisation meet the challenges of the current tough environment and create competitive advantages for when the good times return.
